

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A seat slide device includes a lock mechanism swingably supported to a bracket and having a lock piece with lock pawls rotatively
5 biased by a coil spring and engaged/disengaged from lock openings of a lower rail, a spring protrusion formed with the bracket and catching one end of the coil spring, a lock releasing lever formed with the lock piece and catching another end of the coil spring, and a provisional spring protrusion formed with the lock piece and located in the neighborhood of the spring
10 protrusion and catching one end of the coil spring provisionally.